

Now is the providential spring when our original mind can show our path

Hak Ja Han

June 28, 2006

Royal Suite, Habtoor Grand Hotel, Beirut, Lebanon

Hoon Dok Hae

June 28, 2006, Royal Suite, Habtoor Grand Hotel, Beirut, Lebanon

Now is the providential spring, when our original mind can show our path. To arrive at such a state of mind, True Parents had to tread the path of tremendous sacrifices. You are responsible of give similar opportunities and grace of many other people.

Your country faces many challenges in politics, economy and other fields. True Parents came to solve humanity's fundamental problems and bring them back to God, rather than tackling external issued. Those who received the Blessing yesterday or earlier, all of you, please extend the Blessing and engraft many people to the True Olive Tree so as to prepare the foundation where God can rest in your nation.

Having come from Korea through Japan, the United States, Asia, Eurasia and now the Middle East, I sense that the time has really changed, observing different religious traditions; from Hinduism, to Islam and Christianity. It is a new era now. Various religions have been prepared, but like brothers they have at times been engaged in quarrels with one another, finally aspiring for their parents to come and settle their feuds. Religions must appreciate and receive True Parents first. We should understand the purpose of human life and live with True Parents and attend them.

Small as it is, Lebanon's size makes it possible for us to move the whole nation even with the small group of people present in this room. You can build an exemplary country for the world. Please disseminate this vision to all the people in Lebanon.

By ourselves we cannot experience love, pleasure or happiness: for this we need relationships with others. You must disseminate this vision to Lebanon and the whole Middle East.