

Day of Victory of Love

January 29th, 2016

Washington, USA

Korea

“Today, we celebrate the True Family and the sacrifices they have made for the sake of Your Providence. I am at a loss for words; filled with emotions as I remember these loved ones that I grew up with. You taught us early in life that this physical life is like a flicker of time...but it is what we do in this life that is cosmically important. We grow up, eventually finding a life partner and then go on to create a family centered on You. It is how we live, marry and then live out our lives to serve you that gives us value.”

–Hyun Jin Nim (Prayer on Day of Victory of Love in Korea, 2017)

Day of Victory of Love

January 29th, 2016

United States

In a special Family CVA, children and parents gathered in Edmonds, Washington following the commemorative service for Day of Victory of Love to hear stories from community elders on the special sacrificial heart of Heung Jin Nim and participate in a letter-writing activity to reflect on our role as blessed families attending God and True Family.
